Concerning Ourselves.

Our first task this autumn is one which we always are loth to have to perform—namely record our parting with an honoured old boy President. After three years very valued service to the Association as its chief officer, service always granted with generous disregard to his own comfort and scanty moments for leisure, and granted with unfailling geniality and charm, Mr. C. W. Bond retires; knowing however that he and Mrs. Bond, who also has been a true friend to us during these three years, take with them our deep gratitude, and for the future our kindest wishes.

To our new President, Mr. J. Wilkinson, greeting. He is known to many more old boys than those who were his school fellows in the days gone by; and knowledge of him implies respect and affection. He is a real old boy, one who left us thirty years ago and one who throughout those years has maintained his interest in the Old School and the Association, to both of which he has been unwaveringly loyal. Such connections are of untold value to the School and Association, far beyond what can be measured by mere sentiment or expressed by words.

In his capacity as Secretary to the Stockton and Thornaby Hospital, an appointment to which he succeeded in 1928 after years of preliminary training in legal and secretarial work in the town, he is a busy man and one known and esteemed by all, not least by those old boys who know from experience something of his kindly thought and humanity. He is also a member of the Stockton and Thornaby Rotary Club and a member among other bodies of an official nature, of the Council of the British Hospitals Association. His leisure is therefore limited and we consider ourselves highly honoured by his willingness to devote part of it to ourselves. That only is a real gift which is a cost to the giver.

A year ago we congratulated Mr. Nicholls on entering the married state. Now we have to congratulate him on entering a new sphere of work and wish him well in his fresh labours. He left us at the end of Summer term to take up more thrilling service in Toronto than that of sharpening the wits of school-boys. In the Dominion he will be in charge of Canadian developments now being inaugurated by the Alka-Seltzer Company Inc. of U.S.A.

As his successor on the staff we welcome Mr. E. J. Stone, B.Sc., Durham (Armstrong College), with First Class Honours in Mathematics, who comes to us from Hookergate Secondary School. Mr. Stone has already thrown himself enthusiastically into the Games of the School, and the Old Boys are looking forward to greeting him as one of their number too.

During the Summer, Mr. Rattenbury followed the example of Mr. Nicholls a year ago, and is now a married man and a householder. To him and Mrs. Rattenbury we offer our best wishes for happiness and joy. A presentation to mark the occasion was made after the holidays by the staff whose good wishes were voiced by the Headmaster.

Mr. T. Welch, first physics master to the school, retired last year from the headmastership of Spennymoor Secondary School. The Old Boys of years gone by who gratefully remember the thoroughness with which they were trained in the science of physics and the earnest efforts of Mr. Welch at fostering games enthusiasm in very difficult days, wish him and Mrs. Welch many long and happy years of retirement.

The most exciting event of the past year has surely been the General Inspection which took place in February last, with spasmodic visitations also throughout the Spring term. In all, seven of His Majesty's Inspectors visited the school and subjected it and us to a very thorough, and as it proved, not unpleasant enquiry. The report just issued speaks of the School, the teaching and the spirit of the boys in terms of high and almost unqualified praise, which is not merely gratifying but stimulating, and reassuring in the confidence it inspires. The chief drawback noted is the defective accommodation provided by the present building which limits seriously all school activities.

The Summer term brought its joy, too, in abundant evidence of a much hoped for increase in enthusiasm for athletics in the School. We should never have believed in the change in spirit the achievement wrought in twelve months. Altogether our boys secured three cups—the Railway Centenary, the Weatherhead and above all the Inter-School Sports Cup, won in competition with Barnard Castle, Bishop Auckland, Darlington, Coatham and Middlesbrough. The meeting was held at Bishop Auckland this year, and must be regarded as the most thrilling of any in the long series—since for once, until the very last event, matters were evenly balanced and uncertain, and each point was the subject of strenuous contest. With the last event, the mile, to run, the issue lay between Bishop Auckland and ourselves, and thanks to R. L. Coulson, the only mile runner who had also taken part in a previous event, the points came to us after a mile race more thrilling even than that of last year, in which the record then made was broken by a split second.

Among other outstanding achievements we ought to note that three boys in July carried off County Exhibitions of £80—namely, D. Bryan, A. Robinson and E. J. Tinsley, and the latter added to our pride as well as his own in securing a much coveted State Scholarship.

In athletics R. L. Coulson made a habit of winning mile races all over the district, achieving a bewildering number of successes, three in one week.

C. Urwin followed up his achievements and promise of the last two years by carrying off the Senior River Championship (500 yards) of the Stockton and Thornaby A.S.C. at the age of sixteen, in impressive style, finishing 100 yards ahead of the previous holder of the title. This success he followed up by winning the all-round title of the Stockton and Thornaby A.S.C. In addition, he is a regular member of the Stockton Water Polo Team.

Three boys of School, too, R. Ireland, H. Race and Coulson have played for the Stockton Rugby Club on several occasions, an honour to themselves and a compliment to the Rugby of the School.

Dr. T. Crockett was encountered in the Tower during last Christmas holidays. As was so often the case in school in days gone by, he was near the place of Execution (horesco referens). He looked remarkably well and quite unchanged. He was pitilessly exultant in telling us that he was moving into new buildings a few months later.

When we saw Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Taylor in the summer both were looking well and "full of beans." Mr. Taylor is often to be seen in Saltwell Park which his house overlooks. They are looking forward eagerly to seeing once more their Old-Stocktonian son, Dr. E. Mackenzie-Taylor, head of the irrigation department of the Punjab, who sails for home in November. They give the kindest of welcomes to old friends—especially if they bring Stocktonian news.

It was in the outskirts of Saltburn that we came across Mr. J. Allan and Miss Allan. He looked as if he had left school the day before, and was as hearty and vigorous as ever. No "sad sea waves" for Mr. Allan; with him it is evidently "Saltburn for spriteliness."

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Eden flourish exceedingly at Welwyn Garden City. The number of people from Stockton and his earlier years who turn up at W.G.C. is quite amazing. He has made a good recovery from his rather bad illness in the spring of last year, and refuses to take things too easily. He is studying "L'Art d'être Grand-père" practically and at close quarters. If he has any spare time from this absorbing occupation he is employed by his architect son, Mr. W. A. Eden—another Stocktonian—to read through the manuscripts and proofs of books which the said W. A. E. is writing and preparing for publication,—to see if he can detect any instances of un-musical prose.

If Old Boys have missed Mr. F. J. Upton from the accustomed haunts it is because he has betaken himself to the neighbourhood of Colwyn Bay. Mr. Upton for a good while has been troubled with bronchitis, and the doctors tell him that he must leave this chilly coast with its north-east winds. We hope that the more gentle zephyrs of North Wales will do all that is hoped for to make his life more happy. He has chosen a beautiful country and may some day have the good fortune to go to Llanberis and find it free from the rain and mist which have always prevented us from seeing any more of Snowdon than the base.

The Treasurer would be gratified if members would, whenever possible, forward subscriptions in the appropriate envelope sent for the purpose, or at any rate give clear indications of their names. Sometimes it happens that they give them casually to any Schoolboy they meet wearing a green cap and the Treasurer becomes the recipient of a subscription without any clear knowledge of the name of the person from whom it has come. At the moment we are in receipt of one such from "Mc Something."

Another plan, of course, is to join the ever growing army of Life Members, which now numbers 99.

The habit of enclosing with subscriptions a small donation for the Benevolent Fund is growing and is indeed very welcome. Small sums mount up to useful purpose.

School Sports.

The School Sports took place on June 18th—one of the most dismal days in a summer which, up to then, had been unduly prolific of dismal days.

Conditions did much to spoil the sports from a spectator's point of view, and might have been expected to spoil the performances also. It is not so surprising as it might seem that several records were broken, since several of them were recent records consequent upon the division of the school into Senior, Middle, and Junior divisions only last year. Nevertheless, considering the state of the ground, and the unpleasant conditions generally, results were very creditable and an excellent sporting spirit was shown throughout. Mention may specially be made of an exceptionally fine high jump won in very graceful style.

R. L. Coulson, who tied in points for the Victor Ludorum Senior Medal, was Middle School Champion last year. Such steady perseverance is what we like to see,—and is what has been too often lacking in the past.

It's an ill-wind which has no turning and we are informed that several patrons partook of two teas in order to have a good excuse for sharing in the protection of the tea pavilion!

The distribution of prizes—in common with a fair amount of the programme—took place in steady rain. The Mayoress (Mrs. R. Spark) very kindly, and gracefully, presented the awards to the successful competitors.

Inter-School Sports.

Friday, June 25th, 1937, made amends. On that day the Inter-School Sports were held at Bishop Auckland.

We were told in advance that opinion in the School was optimistic, but, after so many disappointments in the past, we could not command sufficient optimism to expect that we should bring home the cup. But every member of the team was a lion-heart; and after we had picked up a few respectable points in the two first events team and supporters alike were united in the "will to win."

All the world loves to see a David stand up to Goliath, and the modest Tingle had the enthusiastic support of all except partisans—and especially of all the ladies—as he vanquished one big fellow after another. The finish was most exciting, for only at his third attempt did Tingle clear the height at which his next rival had failed.

The mile was the last event on the programme for which points were given this year. At the start of the race we were only one point ahead of Bishop Auckland, and we were told that their representative was going for the record. He did not get it!

Coulson ran with splendid judgment, never allowing the leaders to be more than a yard or two ahead of him and accepting every challenge so that at the last half-lap he was ready to make his bid. The Barnard Castle man had the same intention but Coulson took the lead and won by several yards, breaking the previous record by a fraction of a second.

But it is rather invidious to have singled out these two events (our two "firsts") for all our people did splendidly and ran and jumped with fine spirit and plenty of pluck.

A relay race—without points—was run this year as an experiment. The race was not satisfactory for the advantage of the inside positions was overwhelming, and it is obvious that it will have to be run under quite different conditions if it is to remain on the programme.

There was a very good attendance of "supporters"—and did they get value for their money? Oh boy! (American).

Since the Inter-School Sports became a six-school meeting, the sports have been held on the ground of each of the constituent schools in turn. It had been agreed that when this cycle had been completed the whole position would be considered afresh. It seems probable that the sports will be held each year in future at Darlington,—as the most accessible centre—and that some other schools who have made application will be allowed to compete.

And now let any of the old 'uns come back and tell us that the Sport in the school isn't what it used to be in their day!

House Matches, 1937.

FOOTBALL.

Green House shewed themselves to be much the strongest this year, and won all their matches with a total score of 68 points to nil in their favour.

CRICKET.

There were some exciting games in this series of matches. Brown House were the favourites but were rather unexpectedly beaten in the final by Red House, who thus won the competition.

Weatherhead Cup.

The annual quarter-mile race for the above was run at the Junior Technical School Sports. The School was represented by Metcalfe and Coulson. They ran first and second for practically the whole of the race and finished in that order to bring the cup once more to Stockton for the year.

Annual Swimming Sports.

In order to enable the whole School to witness the Sports, these were held this year in the Billingham Baths, and the keenness and enthusiasm of the boys showed that this was a welcome change. We were glad to see a large number of parents, and hope that still more will attend in future.

Rugby Report, 1936-37.

This has been the most successful season the School XV has had, and this is due to the keenness and enthusiasm of players.

Of the nine matches played, 5 were won, 1 drawn and 3 lost. Points for: 80, against: 47. Of these the win at home against Wellfield was the most pleasing, although the away match against them was lost only by 8 pts. to 6 pts.

Against West Hartlepool we won one and lost one, and Middlesbrough H.S. went down against us by 23 pts. to nil.

In the under 16 years match, the School defeated Bede Collegiate School, Sunderland, by 9 pts. to 3 pts.

Colours were awarded to M. B. Dixon, C. Urwin, R. L. Coulson, H. Race, A. Robinson and J. A. Hill.

The above players together with, Ireland, Byers, Tinsley, Bainbridge, Rowbotham, Barber, Kendal, Carling, Harvey and Tingle, represented the school throughout the season.

Cricket, Season 1937.

Once again we had a successful season, though the First Eleven had only four fixtures, one being cancelled owing to rain. Of three matches played, two were won, namely against Wellfield and Great Ayton Friends' School. Against the former Wing, who bowled consistently right through the season, had the phenomenal figures of:—

O	M	R	W

including the hat-trick. We suffered defeat however, at the hands of West Hartlepool by six wickets.

The Second Eleven came through with flying colours, gaining easy victories in both their matches.

Hill and Watson were most successful with the bat, while the bowling honours were shared chiefly by Wing, Robinson and Hill. The First Eleven was usually chosen from Robinson (Capt.) C. Hill, Haile, Watson, Wing, Coulson, Kelly, Avery, Proctor, Rutledge, P. Twiddy and Dixon.

Perhaps the happiest feature of the season was the discovery of several promising players in the lower school—a fact which augurs well for the coming season.

School Tennis Tournament, 1937.

There was a pleasing entry for the School Tournament this year, 37 players in all entering. The standard of play throughout was high, and this together with the keen competitive spirit and good sportsmanship of the players combined to make the competition most successful. A most surprising feature of the tournament was the defeat of D. W. Byers, last year's champion, by R. Coulson, a promising player who has done well in other branches of the school's athletics. The semi-finalists were Bainbridge and Bull, and Coulson and Williams, Bull defeating Bainbridge and Williams overcoming Coulson. In the final, Bull was defeated 6-3, 7-5 by Williams after a plucky fight; Williams becoming the 1937 Champion.

Chess Tournament.

There were only seven competitors for the "A. W. Welch Chess Shield" this year. This was rather disappointing as too was the standard of play, for although the entrants were keen enough, they could not come up to the standard we have been used to expect from Gedling and his predecessor Aitken. Harvey did not have to extend himself to defeat Riley and Hall en route to the final, but Archer encountered stiff opposition in Dixon, a most grimly tenacious player, who succumbed only after a long struggle. The finalists, who were fairly evenly matched and extremely wary of each other, played with caution rather than brilliance, the result being a win for Archer.

There is at the moment a regrettable lack of interest in Chess throughout the school, but it has been proposed to form a permanent Chess Club, with the idea as much of imparting the rudiments of the game to the younger boys, as of affording more practice for those who are already proficient. Should this receive sufficient support it would once again be possible to resume the inter-school matches with Middlesbrough High School which Gedling began a short while ago.

 Literary and Historical Society.

The society has once more had a successful session, providing for its members food for thought and discussion, and, on one brief occasion, food for consumption too. The variety of the mental food is shown by the fact that debates took place on: German colonies; book-education and travel-education; cinemas; country-life and town-life; the wireless; the decadence of the modern generation (we are decadent!); a Policy of Isolation; football pools; and collective security.

The Blue House won the debating championship. We also had "outside" engagements with the Girls' School and the Y.M.C.A., as well as the Spark Cup debate organised by the League of Nations Youth Group. We did not manage to win the Spark Cup again, but our team, Messrs. Robinson and Tinsley, did us credit.

Of the competitive fixtures, the Hat Night "prize" of free membership was won by Mr. Jones for an exposition of the principles underlying the organisation of Football Pools; the best contribution to the Magazine Night was judged to be a story of the world in 2943 A.D. by Mr. F. Dobby; and the Headmaster's prize for the best speaker was awarded to Mr. Robinson for a speech on Modern Transport.

It was commonly thought that there was something rather fishy about the way in which nearly all the prize-winners at the Annual Party had to leave early to catch the bus to Sedgfield, but it is hoped that the true and gruesome facts behind this incident will never leak out to the general public. Suffice it to say that the evening was much enjoyed by those whose digestion was strong enough to carry them through a few hours of excitement with an interval of steady and sturdy trenchmanship.

We greatly enjoyed a consistently excellent series of lectures. We wish particularly to thank our visiting lecturers: Rev. F. E. Coward on "A trip to Rome;" Mr. C. H. Diddams on "Photography;" Mr. F. M. H. Holman on "China;" and Rev. A. J. Bott on "Palestine." We would also commend the enterprise of those of our own members: Messrs. Veitch, C. Hill, and Dobby, who among them gave us two interesting evenings.

"The debate continues."

 School Journeys.

There have been two school journeys this year; in July some eighty boys, accompanied by four masters, paid a visit to the Roman Wall, and in the first week of the holidays a dozen senior boys spent a week in Normandy and included visits to Paris and some of the sights of London in their itinerary.

The visit to the Roman Wall was the second which has been made during recent years, but the outward route was different. The two bus loads of boys had on this occasion an opportunity to see the scenery of Weardale and to enjoy the run over the moors from Westgate to Allendale Town; and so via Haltwhistle to the Wall. Thus they had their first sight of that great work at Carfields and were to appreciate the immensity of the work necessitated by the vallum. Here unfortunately a misunderstanding on the part of the bus drivers led to the party being forced to tramp two weary miles along another famous historical work, the road of General Wade. Incidentally some of the party took the opportunity to supply evidence for future archeologists of an invasion of the wilds of Northumberland by the denizens of Stockton in the days of the great Milk Marketing Board.

The visit to France was uneventful, Caudebec proved to be a delightful centre and its Saturday market a microcosm of a rural world which persisted more lustily in France than in this part of England. The best thanks of the party are due to M. Grindel, whose assiduity made the visit possible and to Maurice Grindel and Maurice Lalonde who acted as guides and were very patient with the French of the less erudite members of the party. We should also like to place on record our sense of gratitude to our host and hostess at the Hotel de Deux Rives, M. and Mme. Desaix, who went far beyond the letter of their contract in their efforts to entertain us.

The visit to Paris was short, but one member of the party remembers gratefully the shade of the plane trees in the Tuilleries Gardens and pleasure of examining the book boxes on the Banks of the Seine.

Of London, the Science Museum is perhaps best remembered, though the journeys through the streets in bus and tramcar gave many their first ideas of that great city.

As a result of the Roman Wall expedition £1 7s. 0d. was paid into the school funds.

Speech Day.

The School Speech Day on Friday, 11th December, 1936, brought as usual to the Jubilee Hall an audience which completely filled it. Alderman W. Newton, J.P., occupied the Chair and the Prizes and Certificates were presented by Dr. Wagstaff, Professor of Physics in the University of Durham.

After the School Song and two items by the School Choir had been suitably rendered, the Headmaster submitted his Report in which he congratulated all concerned upon the excellence of the work achieved by the School during the session. A pass percentage of 90 per cent. in examinations, was, he maintained, extremely gratifying and for a third year in succession a State Scholarship had fallen to the lot of the school—this time in the person of R. Gedling. The school had had a very successful games record and the football teams were showing marked improvement. The report in general, dealing as it did with the numerous and varied activities, mental and physical, of the school, gave evidence that the education provided in it was an all-round one, well planned and well balanced. For the major part of the successful work accomplished during the session, added the Headmaster, his colleagues were responsible, and he expressed to them his sincere gratitude.

Professor Wagstaff gave an extremely interesting and inspiring address. At the beginning he struck a happy note by declaring his intention of not abusing the privilege he had of being present that night by making a lengthy speech—a note duly appreciated, doubtless, by the younger members of the audience. He pointed out that to achieve contentment a person's life should show some signs of purpose and direction. Only those people get happiness who deserve it and the chance of being happy in after-school life depended very largely on what was done whilst still at school. At school, a boy forged and sharpened the tools and weapons which he would require later on. He deplored the growing tendency of trying to find happiness in crowds and he adjured his hearers not to wander aimlessly about in sheep-like flocks, but to find satisfaction in their own resources.

"We have," he said, "mass production of motor-cars, of clothing, of food, and even our homes have not escaped, but the Lord preserve us from the mass production of leisure. A German philosopher once said that the primary lesson of youth was to learn to enjoy solitude, and make it a source of peace and happiness." "I certainly think," he continued, "that one of the best tests of a man's education is whether he can sit down in his own armchair by his own fire-side for a couple of hours and get up with a deep sense of the companionship he has found in his own society. The strength of mind necessary to do this is only nourished in men who are capable of retiring into themselves occasionally and consulting their inmost heart and mind. To be able to do this one must also be able to spread a little happiness amongst others. In the present tragic tangle of events both at home and abroad there are only two things, it seems to me, that you can say with any certainty—one, great changes lie ahead of us. It may be a long time before we may recognise them, but gradually they will assume shape and volume. We have to be ready, therefore, to face the change with courage and fortitude. The second thing is that all of you boys sitting here in front of me have got your part to play and your call to answer. How then, will you answer it? If, by the time you leave school you have learned how to distinguish the false from the true, then I say, bravo! When the call comes to you, you will know how to answer it. And to answer the call adequately does not require any special ability. It is within the capacity of every boy so to live for himself and for his fellows, whatever his position in life, however humble, however exalted, that the world may be a better place because he has been through it. It is surely well not to trouble so much about what you are getting out of life but rather to concentrate on what you are putting into it. Whatever happens let us, then, try to do our best to live as truly and as purely as we can, to exercise courage and sincerity and to help our fellows as well as ourselves along the path leading to what is wholesome and of good report."

The audience at School Speech Day functions has now come to expect as their right the pleasure of hearing delightful singing by the School Choir, and again they were not disappointed. Mackew's rendering of Handel's "Silent Worship" evoked long and hearty applause. The School Orchestra once again distinguished itself by giving items from old and new Masters. A very delightful suite by Purcell was followed by a sympathetic rendering of Fould's "Celtic Lament," which greatly pleased the audience. Holst's dainty Ländler was in fine contrast to the marshal lilt of Woodhouse's "Processional March" and what was admitted to be a very enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the now traditional "Jerusalem," in which the whole audience heartily joined.

Music.

We have been singularly fortunate in finding two such excellent artists and such kind friends as Mr. R. Robinson, L.R.A.M. and Mr. J. Marshall to visit us and join in playing trios when we were distressed to lose Mr. L. Knox and Mr. H. Spottiswoode who have been called to fresh pastures. It was sheer good luck that Mr. Knox and Mr. Spottiswoode happened to be in Stockton at the same time and they came and played a trio of the over-neglected Joachim Kaff. Among the delightful trios played by Mr. Robinson and Mr. Marshall we recall with special pleasure an arrangement of the first movement of the Pastoral Symphony, a Liszt symphonic poem, Orpheus, Saint-Saens' Le Rouet d'Omphale, and a couple of Dvorak's Slavonic Dances. Another good friend Mr. J. M. Jones was in better voice than ever and we were delighted to hear again Schubert's Serenade, Ireland's Sea Fever and Peel's Summer Time on Bredon in his most interesting and varied programme. The school orchestra performed on two evenings, on the first occasion playing the Speech Day programme and on the other a Rondo arranged from a Haydn quartet, an arrangement of the slow movement of a Haydn piano sonata, and Handel's Water Music.

A competent and unbiased judge declared that the Orchestra had improved beyond all recognition when he heard them play on Speech Day a Suite of Five Pieces—Purcell (arr. Dolmetsch), Keltic Lament—Foulds, Ländler—Gustav Holst, and Processional March—Woodhouse.

The House Music competition was won by the Blue House. Mr. Gavin Kay's comments were as helpful (and occasionally caustic) as ever. Our best thanks to him.

We should be glad to hear of those who have been learning a stringed instrument and who are not in the orchestra. Parents of boys in lower forms might well consider the possibility of allowing them to learn an orchestral instrument. The orchestra would be an incentive to them as it has been to a number of Stocktonians. We should also like to hear of pianists who are really keen and willing to work. Too many are content with a mere rattle-bones standard of accomplishment.

Old Boys' Reports.

On Armistice Day we again kept in memory the sacrifice of Old Stocktonians in the Great War when we joined with boys of the school in their memorial service and the President, Mr. J. Wilkinson laid our wreath with theirs on the war memorial.

A tablet to the memory of the late Captain Harry Lennard who gallantly gave his life to save those of others after the wreck of the Silver Hazel in the Phillipines two years ago, was unveiled and dedicated in All Saint's Church, Preston-on-Tees on Sunday, October 31st. Old Stocktonians were represented at the Service by Mr. W. Baker and Mr. W. R. Ball.

* * * *

Old Stocktonians in London have been getting together, and held a reunion among themselves on Saturday, October 30th at the Aldwych Corner Restaurant. Mrs. W. W. Cornforth agreed to act as hostess for the occasion, a gracious office warmly appreciated by all of us, and we understand that those who attended were D. Brookfield, W. W. Cornforth, G. A. Gardner, A. W. Jones, T. W. Jones, S. North, J. Sharkey, A. E. Shields, D. Simpson, D. Summers and not least if last G. Mantle who unselfishly undertook the by no means simple task of making all the arrangements necessary for organising a function of this kind. All the people mentioned are either in the public service or discharging duties equally responsible if more onerous in service otherwise, and it will be clear how essential we are now to the good government of this country, and the health and happiness of the metropolis.

We hope that the gathering will be not only the first of many such in London, but the exemplar of others to be organised in other large centres in which several Old Stocktonians are working.

* * * *

For some years the question of Old Stocktonians blazers has restfully reposed as matters once settled ought to do; but there are omens of its stirring once more from its slumbers and moving us to conflict.

The official blazer is of black edged with white to a width of one inch and with a similar strip of white round the cuffs of the sleeves and below the pocket tips. The breast pocket bears our badge in silver.

We understand that many are in use, especially among foreign members. It is suggested that the white edging ought to be replaced by colours. The desirability of any change is however very dubious, after having once legislated on a matter of this kind. If there is any strong feeling on this matter among members one way or the other it might be as well if they said their say now to members of the committee.

Dance.

On January 20th about two hundred members and friends of the association assembled in the "Maison" in Yarm Lane for the Annual Dance, and the function proved as gratifying a success as its predecessor of 1936. The floor after 10 p.m. was comfortably filled, without unpleasant overcrowding and as usual members of the dance committee were cheered by the appreciative comments of many who have come to regard Old Stocktonian dances as especially enjoyable occasions. Many of the outside public might have been admitted save for the vigilance of door keepers whose strict injunctions were to exercise careful discrimination, a task not always easy. Had we wished to swell profits this might have been done very simply, but at the expense of the comfort and pleasure of those for whom the dance is really held.

The number of tickets sold reflects very creditably on the labours of those loyal and helpful members who undertake the duty, not always a grateful one selling them.

Mr. and Mrs. Bond once more contributed considerably to the success of the evening and on the latter fell the duty yet once again of presenting the prizes—as charmingly performed as heretofore.

May we ask for renewed support for the next dance and if possible for an augmentation of numbers to 250? Such a number would guarantee the success of the dance from all points of view and should surely be possible for an association such as ours—especially as we hold only one dance in the year. Old Stocktonians are as you know delightful people to meet; and excellent dancers to boot. Of a good thing you can never have too much—not even if it numbers 250.

Poor Children's Treat.

This event took place on Monday, 28th December at the same time as for years past and in the same place. For once it took the youngsters a fair time to thaw out and throw off restraint. Most of them seemed to regard the early portion of the "do" as a tremendously solemn occasion, though it must be confessed that it was the carols which suffered, not the grub. Many faces had been carefully polished, and as many little boys were obviously trying to keep in mind instructions as to table behaviour carefully inculcated before setting off. The conjuring entertainment was punctuated less than usual with the bursting of balloons, and was followed with rapt attention by the little crowd. Noise came later, and though for some time it still seemed as though we should have to make it, since the usual request for songs and recitations and dances proved more barren than for years past. The great moment came however in due course, after consistent stimulation, on the part of a brigade of Old Boys, many of them masters of the craft of inciting to unruliness, and experienced over many years now. Others of our members were new to the game but entered into it with all the abandon of youth and the promise of worthily maintaining honoured traditions. If none of them really could dance, a fair number could get a living tumbling; indeed we wondered how many would go home with cracked heads in addition to cracked voices. The small boys enjoyed all this immensely and would have gladly gone on with such commendably low brow entertainment, but for the summons of Punch and Judy and the visit of Santa.

It was a grand evening—and could be no other considering the number of Old Boys who, in the real spirit of Christmas, contributed one way or another to the success of it.

It is pleasing too, to notice how senior boys in the school like to contribute something to the event; and to note that their numbers tend to increase.

Nineteenth Annual Dinner.

Sundry cheery Old Stocktonians, assembled in the precincts of the Royal Hotel, High Street, Stockton-on-Tees about the hour of 7-45 p.m. on the night of Tuesday, December 29th, 1936,—were enabled to beguile the time of waiting for dinner by exhibiting their skill at billiards—sure sign of wasted opportunities. Those of more regular life might have played at draughts or chess—and perhaps they did. The signal of a more serious call was given prompt to the hour and all filed upstairs. President Mr. C. W. Bond took the chair at the head of the main table.

If space around the tables was somewhat congested the eatables were ample, well-cooked, and easy of digestion. A number of members by their eager talk and hearty laughter well maintained our tradition that Stocktonian dinners shall not be pompous or boring affairs.

The dinner over we sought an ampler ether, a diviner air at a lower and more chilly level where joy might be unconfined. There, to set the ball a-rolling as it were, Mr. David Shepherd helped at times by Gilbert and Sullivan enthusiasts valiantly sang to us of the Wandering Minstrel. Mr. Horace Drinkel followed with his admirable character study of genial old age, after which Mr. A. E. Shields of Pembroke College, Cambridge, rose to propose the toast of the school.

Mr. Shields admitted that he had studied carefully the reports of previous dinners in the Stocktonian. This may have limited his flights into the empyrean for, although he admitted his youthfulness, he nevertheless felt obliged to conform to the practice of reminiscing on the subject of his thrilling adventures at school. It was some relief to certain ones who have suffered in the past that his personal references were confined to an excellent master who is no longer a member of the school staff. But Mr. Shields grew serious. Why was it that the activities of the Association tended to diminish while those of the school increased? He read now of delightful school journeys, of the varied and interesting programme of the Literary, and Historical Society, of the extension of the schools musical activities a branch of the out-of-school activities which he had only been able to appreciate as it deserved since he had become an Old Boy. But when he scanned the Stocktonian he could find no evidence of the present existence of the O. S. Football or Cricket Teams. And what had become of the Annual Lecture? True the Dinner survived—and deserved more numerous and enthusiastic support than it appeared to receive if he might judge by the numbers present that evening. He must not forget either, to mention the splendid activities of the Benevolent Fund and of the Poor Children's Treats. Still he did not feel that the members of the Association gave as much of support and service to the activities of their society as they should do.

We rank high among similar efforts the speech of Mr. Shields. There was the earnestness which showed that the task was taken seriously, there was a quiet humour thoroughly effective and entirely void of offence.

To the toast the headmaster replied with a neat speech, gently humorous but perhaps too briefly turned.

The speeches over we might well have been awkwardly fixed for entertainment had we not found a real host in an honoured guest, Mr. E. W. Shields, the father of our Old Boy speaker, who responded with encore after encore and generously gave us good for evil heaping buckets of coals of fire on our unworthy heads. We did allow him a little rest, but not much, and with witty monologue and character sketches in plenty he raised our spirits and made us feel that we were after all not a crowd of forty in a room built to hold two hundred.

There was other diversion too—best of all the spontaneous fun of community singing with two rival conductors; but much of our traditional fun was sadly missed.

Next time we hope that a really good time will be had by all.

There were present—

F. W. Baker, W. Baker, W. R. Ball, L. Bell, C. W. Bond, T. B. Brooke, S. Brown, T. H. Bulmer, C. Chapman, W. H. Coates, T. C. Cowie, R. Elsworth, E. H. Fieke, N. Green, G. L. Harris, H. W. Inman, C. W. King, J. R. Kinnes, D. S. Kirtley, Old Stocktonians' Benevolent Fund.

At the time of the publication of the last Old Stocktonian Year Book the balance at the bank to the credit of the Benevolent Fund stood at £108. Since then, £11 has come in by way of repayments, while subscriptions mainly at Christmas have realised another £7.

On the other hand, loans totalling about £50 have been made, so that on September 30th, the Fund has about £76 in hand.

This roughly is a general statement of the position of affairs and so far as it goes is satisfactory.

But it must be confessed that the delay of some of the borrowers in repaying their loans is causing the Trustees a good deal of uneasiness. At the same time, there seems to be an increasing number of Old Boys who enter into obligations without the slightest knowledge of how they are going to meet them and in the end rely on the Benevolent Fund to get them out of their difficulty.

With the former class, there may be some sympathy although their delay in repaying naturally limits the scope of the Fund.

On the latter class, however, it cannot be too strongly urged that there may be occasions when the Fund may be unable or even unwilling to render any help whatsoever.

Looking back at the Benevolent Fund from its inception the following points seem to stand out:—

- (1) that it has fulfilled a distinctly useful purpose on several occasions, that in fact it has here and there made a career possible where otherwise there was no chance of a career.
- (2) that it has received the faithful support of the few but has not generally been supported by the bulk of the Old Boys.
- (3) that in the absence of any special efforts, its income is always too small to admit of a general usefulness.
- (4) that while some of the Old Boys who have benefited have been duly grateful, there are a few who appear to regard the help which they have received as a right and not as a privilege.

Old Boys Here and There.

It is with no ordinary thrill of pride that we find an Old Stocktonian collaborating in the production of a monumental work with people of such distinction as Prof. G. M. Trevelyan, Shiela Kaye Smith, E. M. Forster, Lord Horder, Lord Howard, Prof. C. M. Joad, J. M. Keynes and H. J. Massingham. The work in question is "Britain and the Beast," one of the most important as well as most impressive books of the year; the Old Stocktonian, W. A. Eden, whose contribution was specially commended by the "Times" as learned and thoughtful. Mr. Eden is also engaged in collaborating with the Professor of Civic Design of the University of Liverpool in a critical account of the new planning schemes of the City of Liverpool and its environs, and of the Wirral Peninsula. A truly impressive year's work.

S. Proud is the author of a Paper on Tropical Hurricanes and Upper Winds at Kingston, Jamaica, published by His Majesty's Stationery Office. This we understand is a mere preliminary to a work of more considerable dimensions.

Maurice Sutherland, after mastering the intricacies of the law and qualifying as a Solicitor in more populous places, has returned to our midst as a Solicitor in practice. His offices are situated very conveniently at no great distance from the old school and from them he sheds over us the light of his learning and good example.

Mr. T. Welch, a former member of the Staff, has been awarded the Territorial Decoration.

H. Stephenson narrowly escaped sending up in flames the City and University College of Hull as editor of the "Torch," a periodical of no small importance in those parts. He is too modest to tell us all.

Ernest Watson, who as a boy did promising things in the Preston-Tees Cricket XI, has been carrying promise to perfection in playing for Bedfordshire,—nearly our first County man.

Tom Olver, actually our first County player, now alas exiled in Lancashire, lives in local cricket history as a giant who in 1933 achieved a double record for the Stockton Club and the North Yorkshire and South Durham League, by scoring over 1000 runs. His departure we lament, but such is the price we pay that the people of Burnley may have light.

Cyril Turner has upheld our honourable connection with the Stockton Cricket Club, and last season finished at the top of the batting averages with the added distinction of having been the only batsman to achieve a century.

M. W. Callender has been awarded both Rugby and Boating Colours at Hatfield College, Durham.

J. T. Gleave has been awarded his Swimming Colours at the same home of learning.

E. S. Fordy, at St. John's College, York, secured his second year's Harriers Colours. He is now running with the Committee.

Last year we congratulated Harold Lodge on winning an international cap; now he has gone further than this and won a wife. Congratulations.

There is a thriving branch of the Association at Bellingham, a city in the wild country of the North Tyne, where the chief industry is woolgathering. Our branch constitutes the only normal portion of the population we hear, and, in discharging its functions recently as Bellingham Musical Society at the Hexham Musical Festival, won the Shield. It is due to play "Tilly of Bloomsbury," at an early date, when it will become for the evening in question the Bellingham Dramatic Society. Its serious efforts amid moorland solitudes were recently somewhat disturbed by the inquisitive incursions of a Vice-President of our Society anxious to encourage and advise.

D. Bryan, Pembroke College, Oxford, finished fourth in the Oxford University Freshmen's Cross Country Trial over a course of eight miles and as a result of this heartening performance has already been chosen, while yet in his first term, to represent the University, being a member of the team which ran against Blackheath on Nov. 6th. We shall, we hope, ere long have news of our first Half Blue.

W. H. Coates cultivates the arts as well as rugger. He is now a "Masquer" and did a brilliant bit of work as the detective in a recent production of Priestley's "Mystery at Greenfingers." Of the many appreciative criticisms he received he will no doubt be most justly proud of that voiced by the critic appointed by the British Drama League to appraise the production. We shall soon lose another good man to the flicks—but not, we hope, before the next Kid's Treat.

W. Steward is another amateur actor—his services having been utilized by the Middlesbrough Little Theatre in their last Shakespearian venture.

Many other exciting things must have happened to Old Stocktonians; but they are unpardonably modest leaving too much to be told by dickie birds—otherwise we should not have room to record all that we ought to know. If they will not own up themselves, they can at least peach on each other.

In Memoriam.

Again there falls to us the sad duty of recording the passing from amongst us of some whom we knew well and valued deeply.

THOMAS H. BROWN, aged 27, the eldest of three brothers who have passed through the school, left us in 1925. At school he was loved for his quiet helpfulness and respected for his underlying vein of strength and determination. Like his brothers he was a keen lover of the open air and an ardent cyclist, and as such a very active and enthusiastic member of the Stockton Cycling Club. He was the victim of a road accident under particularly sad circumstances, being killed on March 29th, the day on which he returned to work after his honeymoon. To his widow, his parents and his brothers we would express our deepest sympathy.

In the "Stocktonian" of 1935 we expressed our concern on learning of the very serious illness of CECIL MORRIS. Before last year's issue was published he had already laid down his life's work—one more victim of that disease consumption, which in the last few years has robbed us of so many of our most promising old boys. After leaving school Cecil Morris had been trained as a teacher, and his gentlemanly bearing and pleasing manner added to his professional equipment gave every promise of a life of more than common usefulness. Dis aliter visum,—his work had hardly begun when he was called away to higher service.

Alas! every year we have to record our sorrow for promising young lives robbed of fulfilment. This year has been exceptionally distressing for we have lost two pupils still at school. We can safely say that ALAN METCALFE was one of the best liked boys in the school. Quiet, gentlemanly, reserved, most modest in his estimate of himself and his achievements, yet ready to do more than his share for the sake of his side and his school, his was a character appreciated by boys and masters alike. His masters appreciated a steadiness of character which was always reliable, and which made for solid progress. They liked, too, a quiet vein of humour which was none the less genuine because it was not boisterous. We fear now that he must often have been less well than we thought him, and that his brave spirit made him take a part in strenuous games beyond what his health and fitness warranted. His sudden illness took everyone by surprise, so that he had passed away almost before it was realised how serious was his condition. He gained his School Certificate last July, and was hoping shortly to take up an appointment in a Bank. We bid him a sad and affectionate farewell.

THOMAS HENRY ROBINSON had only been a pupil of the school four terms when, at the age of 13, he passed from us, a victim of diphtheria. During the short time he was with us he had already proved himself a boy of gentle manners, charming and unaffected modesty and really exceptional promise, one who would have gone far had he been granted the fulness of time in which to develop his gifts. We miss him.

To the parents and relatives of all these Stocktonian friends of ours we extend our deepest sympathy.

Revised October, 1939.

1.—The name of the Association shall be the "Old Stocktonians."

The "Old Stocktonians" aims at continuing friendships and preserving that spirit of comradeship which ought to exist among those who have been educated at the same school. These aims are to be achieved by means of social, recreative, and educational pursuits.

2.—The Association shall be open to the Old Boys of the Stockton Secondary School and of the late Higher Grade School. Past and present members of the staff are also eligible.

3.—The government of the Association shall be vested in three Presidents, six Vice-Presidents, a Treasurer, two Secretaries and a Committee of sixteen, together with the Secretary of each sub-section.

(a) The present and retired headmasters shall be Presidents ex-officio.

The third shall be elected annually.

(b) All the other officials shall be elected annually.
